Boy Scouts Open Second Annual Camp in Shadow of Mountains

Troops From All Pass Towns Under District Commissioner J. W. Gresham

Crow's Nest Pass District Boy Scouts opened their second annual camp on Monday, near Knownell, on McGillivray Creek. District Commissioner J. W. Gresham is camp commandant, and troops are in camp from Michel, Crow's Nest, Coleman, Blairmore, Hillcrest and Bellevue.

W. S. Backman, provincial executive commissioner, of Edmonton, inspected the camp and addressed the boys at a camp fire meeting on Tuesday. The camp is 5,000 feet above sea level, and general satisfaction is expressed by all at its attractive setting in the shadow of mighty Crow's Nest mountains. It will continue till July 28.

Trustees Barrington, Sudworth and Hwy voted for rescinding the motion, in order that Ray Spillers should be appointed, they voting for his appointment, W. Antrobus and the chairman against.

No further action has been taken on the dental contract renewal.

Last Friday evening a shower was held at the home of Mrs. Harry Garner in honor of Miss Pauline Rypien. The guests were Mrs. Gillies, Mrs. Jack Smith, Mrs. Nevey, Mrs. Westworth, Mrs. J. Rogers, Miss Michalsky, Miss Kahout, Miss M. Bedham, Mrs. Vincent, Mrs. Joyce.

and in addition to the usual course of instruction, sports and a field day will be held. The camp is reached by turning north at Mc Gillivray offices.

Blairmore and Bellevue Still in Throes of Strike -- Several Assault Cases

Five Months Deadlock Demoralizes Business in Neighboring Towns—Bitter Feelings

The striking miners of Blairmore and Bellevue, dominated by Murphy and his henchmen Stolpuk and Sloan, enter on the sixth month of a futile struggle. Hanging on to the name of the Mine Workers Union of Canada, they still are able to secure relief supplies from various sources. Reports appearing in "The Worker," Communist weekly newspaper, emphasize the necessity of supplies being sent in order to enable the Reds to win.

Conversing with a prominent business man this week, he stated in his opinion there was no immediate prospect of a settlement in sight. So completely are many of the strikers influenced by paid mercenaries, that as long as supplies can be obtained they will hold out, no matter how logical may be the reasons advanced by the moderates for returning to work.

After repeated representations made by citizens, the attorney general has prohibited the assembling of parades in the Crows Nest Pass area, and if a parade does take place, those taking part are liable to arrest. Murphy was reported to have left on Sunday night for Ottawa.

A meeting was held last Saturday evening at Bellevue, and a truck load of men from Coleman went down. Harvey Murphy and Rev. A. E. Larke spoke, the latter trying to pour oil on the troubled waters, as both sides were in a belligerent mood. His address averted a general clash.

No More Red Parades in Pass

Assault Charges at Blairmore

The particular form of annoyance practiced by the Reds, such as parades and hoisting, has been put a stop to by a police order forbidding all parades, and threatening with prosecution those who may take part.

This will be particularly annoying to the Reds, but gratifying to the "white" or "moderates" in Bellevue and Blairmore, whose patience has been tried to the limit by strikers under the leadership of renegades whose sense of responsibility is absolutely nil. It may drive the Reds to cover, where their conspiracies will be hatched, but it will at least remove or minimize the possibility of cracked heads and deaths. The attorney-general's order has not been issued any too soon. Two months ago it was issued for.

Conversing with a prominent business man this week, he stated in his opinion there was no immediate prospect of a settlement in sight. So completely are many of the strikers influenced by paid mercenaries, that as long as supplies can be obtained they will hold out, no matter how logical may be the reasons advanced by the moderates for returning to work.

Bellevue Relief Committee Receives Support

Coleman Miners Donated Towards Relief Last Pay-Day and Further Appeal to be Made Saturday

The appeal issued over the names of Albert Rhodes of Bellevue and Ed. Womersley of Blairmore for relief for the miners of those towns met with a good response last pay day in Coleman and other points. Coleman miners subscribed a nice sum, and the committee has promise of further support on Saturday, when another collection will be taken.

The above committee appreciate the support accorded them.

Skid Hill, Wyndham Jones, Reg Jones, Oliver Barrington and W. Lonsbury, spent the week end at Waterton Lakes.

Forest Ranger Boulton addressed the Boy Scouts at their camp last evening on forest conservation. A number of visitors from neighboring towns were present.

Mrs. Robert Holmes and Mrs. Lily Fraser were joint hostesses at a shower in the latter's home in honor of Miss Grace Patterson, whose marriage to Mr. J. Ironside of Hillcrest, will take place in the near future.

Mr and Mrs. J. Emmerson and family motored to Vancouver for two week's holiday.

Drumheller Coal Operators' Attitude Draws Very Sharp Criticism

Refusal to Accept Majority Report Adversely Commented on as Breach of Faith

BLAIRMORE—Seven men of the sixteen against whom information was laid for assault of miners near Frank railway station, were charged with assault and causing grievous bodily harm. F. Andel, F. Edel, E. Roman, of Frank; G. Danesine, L. Houbregts, E. Terrisini, of Blairmore, and Pete Platka of Bellvue, were remanded on $200 bail each to appear in Blairmore court house on July 21. Charges are pending against six other men and three females in connection with the assault.

J. E. Gillis is conducting the prosecution, the accused being alleged supporters of the "Red" campaign in the Crow's Nest Pass. Those who were as saulted belonged to the "moderate" faction.

W. Gellep of Bellevue was also charged with assault, the charge being prosecuted by the R. C. M. P. He is on $200 bail to appear on July 21.

Charges have been laid against 66 strikers, who will be tried this week.

Obituary

Mr. James Muir, resident in Coleman for 13 years, died at 2 a.m. Sunday after a lengthy illness, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. William Milley. He was 72 years old, and came from Fifeshire, Scotland. For several years he was employed by McGillivray Coal Co., but some time ago ceased his duties with them owing to advancing age.

The funeral was held yesterday afternoon, service being at the home, Rev. A. E. Larke officiating, burial taking place at the Union cemetery. Masonic honors were accorded the deceased, Past Grand Master George E. Cruickshank officiating.

The surviving members of the family are Mrs. A. Beveridge and Mrs. W. Milley, of Coleman, and Mr. Alex Muir, of Alexo, formerly of Coleman. The sympathy of a large circle of friends in the community was extended to them in the passing of their father.

The attitude of Drumheller coal operators calls forth severe criticism. They refuse to accept a majority report of a board of conciliation. They would force on the miners a starvation standard of wages, because, they allege, they cannot meet competition and pay the present wage scale. Drumheller miners will have public support in their just claim for a living wage.

Any industry which resorts to scab wages, which throttles the economic life of its employees, should assign, if the worker has to become a wage slave in order to live. The Drumheller Mail, commenting on the negotiations, states: "On Monday, the Calgary Herald editorially condemned the attitude of the operators with the inference that they had broken faith with the men and with the government, when they rejected the majority report in favor of a one-man finding written by their hand-picked representative on the board.

"If the majority report is ignored, then we must assume that the Conciliation Board was a waste of taxpayers' money. The object behind the formation of the board, we understand, is to obtain complete information and work out an equitably agreement based on a reasoned investigation of conditions on both sides.

"If those who subscribe to the creation of the board have no intention of accepting its findings, we suggest that the government should charge the entire costs of the proceedings to them."

Visitors from Coleman attending the Calgary exhibition included Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Whiteside, Mrs. A. Beveridge and Betty, and John Houghton.

Ourselves.

Bruce Barton, the well known author and magazine writer, has proposed the toast: "To the only folks who can make us or break us—To Ourselves." And he quoted the saying of Carlyle: "The world's being saved will not save us; nor the world's being lost destroy us. We should look after ourselves."

The truth of these statements, differently worded but meaning exactly the same thing, cannot be gainsaid. The biggest factor in the world now, as always, is the individual. No man is actually down and out, defeated, unless and until he himself admits defeat. Furthermore, more people are destroyed by prosperity than by adversity; more people fall to grasp and enjoy the realities of life when the gods are showering them with riches or other gifts than when they are faced with difficulties and confronted with seemingly unsolvable problems.

It is then people begin to call upon latent powers they possess. William James, in his essay on "Vital Reserves," pointed out that underneath our daily store of strength and courage, all of us have reservoirs that are tapped only by emergency. We are all able, under the test, to surprise ourselves with an unsuspected capacity to be and do more.

It is that capacity which is our greatest asset. It is our hope in the present and for the future. It is ours to employ now.

The writer is acquainted with a man resident in one of our prairie cities who lost his position over a year ago. He has a bed-ridden wife not only to support but to care for. He is not an educated man, and prior to losing his position received only a small salary. Did he despair and call upon the Government to put him "on relief"? Not a bit of it! He called upon his own reserves of strength. Although he had no experience, he got a job painting a garage. This led to other small painting jobs. Then at Christmas time he got work soliciting orders on a commission basis. When spring came he hunted up garden work to do. Thus he keeps going. He is seldom idle because he is willing to take on any kind of a job, no matter how humble. And when you meet him it always has a new joke to tell. He goes whistling on his way, scowling to accept Government or municipal relief, always looking forward to better days that must inevitably come, and in the meantime keeping his head well above water. He is a bigger, better man than ever before; has maintained his self-respect and kept his courage, and, in the days to come, will command a better position than any he might have secured had "hard times" not descended upon him.

This is a very simple illustration of a very ordinary individual. Never-the-less he has and is displaying the spirit of a hero. Yet he possesses nothing that each and every person has not got, namely, a reserve of strength, a courage of determination, to call upon in times of emergency. But the important thing is—he called those reserves into action. Too many of us fail to do this. We hesitate, we drift, we refuse to use the powers lying latent in us with which we have been endowed. In a word, we do not faith in ourselves, and without that faith anything that others may do for us will fall far short. Such people will come out of the present time of difficulty earlier and less well equipped to take advantage of the opportunities which the future will offer to us.

Let us put ourselves to the test. We have been buffeted about; we may be gasping, but if we are strong of heart and keep on we will get our "second wind." A race is never lost until it is over; we always have a chance to win until the tape at the finishing line is definitely broken. Our success or failure depends not on the other fellow, but on ourselves.

Fast Ocean Travel

Canada Now Only Week-End Journey From England

Canada is now only a "week-end's journey from England," thanks to the record-breaking crossings of the Atlantic by the C.P.'s "Empress of Britain," says Viscount Rothermere, famous British newspaper magnate. Viscount Rothermere declares that the interval between the time the "Empress of Britain," passed Bishop's Rock lighthouse, off the Scilly Islands, and the time she reached the entrance to the Strait of Belle Isle, was only 73 hours and 53 minutes.

The passage of the north Atlantic was made with only two nights spent out of sight of land," declared Viscount Rothermere's message, "after which the rest of the journey has been through smooth land-locked waters."

An Imposing Monument

Prince of Wales Will Dedicate War Memorial

One of the most imposing war memorials on French soil is that which is to be dedicated by the Prince of Wales at Thiepval, on the Somme, next March. This monument, which is nearing completion, will be composed of triumphal arches 140 feet high, and only five feet less in breadth. On the pillars will appear the engraved names of 73,367 British officers, N.C.O.'s and men.

The average annual income of physicians in the United States, as revealed by an American Medical Association survey, is $9,674.

All Her Children Were Troubled

With Diarrhoea

Mrs. J. J. Bickert, B.R. 1, Enderby, B.C., writes:—"Last Summer all my children were troubled with diarrhoea, and were so bad I did not know what to do. A friend told me to give Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, so I got a bottle, and after a couple of doses you should have seen the change. The children were soon well again, and I am very thankful to your wonderful remedy. I find it the only one that relieves so easily and quickly."

Established For Centuries

History Of Many English Business Firms Is Interesting

Among the historic business firms of England is one which claims existence when the flames demolished medieval London. This is Hedges and Butler, wine merchants, whose original lease forbade the shooting of snipe in that thoroughfare and who numbered Pitt, the Duke of Wellington, W. E. Gladstone, and Lord Beaconsfield among their customers. Yet another is G. W. Scott and Sons Limited, who made hoops for the dresses of the fashionable ladies in the days of Queen Anne and wicker frames for the bearskins of the Guards at Waterloo. Founded in 1690, Birch and Co., have since provided all the banquets for the City Corporation, and for 250 years have fed every crowned head and important man in Europe. The business remains famous for turtle soup and punch made from age-old recipes, and the fine window of their original shop now reposes in the London Museum. Also founded in 1690, Grosvenor, Chater and Co., were the first stationers to the Bank of England. Queen Anne, a famous gourmet, liked the relishes made by Cross and Blackwell, into which firm Napoleon's chief, Quaillotti, entered and invented the pickle, Piccalilli. In 1783, it is interesting to note now that the tea duty in England has just been reimposed. Mr. Richard Twining, of R. Twining and Co., the tea merchants, was called in by Pitt to discuss the removal of the tea tax, a step which was taken. Two hundred and twenty-two years ago the Sun Insurance Office began business, and in 10 years issued 20,000 policies, insuring about 10,000,000 dollars in sums in those days. Telescopa made by early Dollonds, Dallond and Atchison, were used by Nelson, Wellesley, and Napoleon. To C. T. Brock and Co., the firework manufacturers, belongs the distinction of carrying on an illegal trade for 155 years, firework making not being actually legal till 1875.

It is then people begin to call upon latent powers they possess. William James, in his essay on "Vital Reserves," pointed out that underneath our daily store of strength and courage, all of us have reservoirs that are tapped only by emergency. We are all, under the test, to surprise ourselves with an unsuspected capacity to be and do more.

Had Riel For Customer

Ontario Barber Has Followed Trade For Seventy-Six Years

Louis B. Lafrance, the oldest active barber in the Dominion, celebrated his ninetieth birthday in June. He has been engaged in the trade seventy-six years, and hopes to be able to continue for another ten or fifteen, he says. He was born in Quebec City, moved to Montreal, where he learned the trade. He then went West and opened a shop in Winnipeg, which at that time was little more than a village. One of his customers was Louis Riel, the leader of the Northwest Rebellion. Mr. Lafrance and Riel became friends, and he still thinks Louis was a very good man. He was in Winnipeg when Sir John Macdonald went out there to the dedication of Winnipeg as a town. East some fifty years ago, he settled in Trenton, where he has kept shop ever since. He is the father of nine nieces and nephews.

Wild Horses To Be Rounded Up From Air

Klamath Falls, Ore., plans the mightiest wild horse drive—from the air. Three airplanes will dip low over the plateaus and passes, set the wild bands running, head them at the turns and finally stampede 2,000 of them as it is expected, into a gigantic trap corral in the lowlands. The finest stallions and mares, it is promised, will be allowed to escape again to the hills, but most of that vast catch will be slaughtered—for chicken feed. The automobile could replace the horse in man's heart, but not even the auto could chase him off the map. Musket Has Its Use

Possibility It May Be Manufactured Into Wall Board

Musket, the moss-like substance that covers thousands of miles of Canada's treeless north country, has at last found a use. An inquiry recently received by the Board of Trade at The Pas, Manitoba, may lead to a trainload of musket being shipped to Brampton, Ontario, for use in the manufacture of wall board.

Sitting in the midst of millions of tons of musket, long beloved valueless, officials of the board were amazed when they received the letter asking about the possibility of buying a dozen carloads or so. Negotiations are now under way for shipment and the Board of Trade is looking into the possibility of getting a factory to locate there and use the material.

High Tariff Walls

Of U.S. Proves a Severe Blow To Canadian Agriculture

The exports from Canada to the United States of principal commodities, such as are produced on Canadian farms, or manufactured directly from such farm products, during the month of May amounted in value to $390,152, as compared with $4,326,340 in May, 1930, and $8,604,898 in May, 1921, according to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The high tariff walls erected by the United States, culminating in the Hawley-Smoot tariff in June, 1930, were a severe blow to Canadian agriculture, making the export to that country of many commodities practically impossible.

During the eleven months ending May, 1932, the export of such commodities to the United States totaled $8,632,428, as compared with $14,075,930 in the same period of 1929-30, and $17,492,982 in the eleven months ending May, 1921.

With a duty of 42 cents per bushel on wheat, the export of Canada's wheat, an agricultural product to the United States declined from $101,000 in eleven months of the crop year 1920-21, to $2,490,774 in 1931-32. These cents per pound on beef cattle has caused a drop from $21,182,224 to $617,745.

Three dollars per head on sheep brought the export down from $1,666,213 to $26. But at 14 cents per pound, from $2,269,221 to $14,594, fixed at 65 cents per bushel from $4,763,311 to $737,070, potatoes at 75 cents per 100 pounds from $6,557,031 in eleven months of 1929-30 to $459,449, hay at 5¢ per ton from $2,369,295 to $15,979, etc. Of course, lowered prices have also had some effect upon the values.

Internally and Externally It Is Good—The crowning property of Dr. Theodoor Eclectic Oil is that it can be used internally and externally, as plants, as well as externally. For some throat, crop, whooping cough, pains in the chest, colic and many kindred ailments it has qualities that are unequalled. A bottle of its costs little and there is no loss in always having it at hand.

Externally Not Known

The case came before a London coroner the other day of a man who "with an income of nearly £3,000 a year, had not a friend in the world." It cannot have been generally known that he had an income of nearly £3,000 a year.

And now it is reported crocodiles do not cry. Next thing we know someone will muster enough courage to declare there is no such thing as a weeping willow.

Treacherous Police Dogs

Bringing These Animals Into Canada Looks Like Mistake

The Stratford Beacon-Herald in connection with a case of a lad of six being bitten in Toronto by a police dog, observes that breeders of dogs are agreed that it was a mistake to bring this dog to Canada. It has not the background and tradition of the Collie, the bulldog, the setter, St. Bernard, Newfoundland or any of the other well-known breeds of dogs to which we are accustomed. The police dog is a wild animal, and treacherous in the sense that he cannot be trusted not to take a bite at any moment. The breeding of these dogs should be discouraged, especially for city life.

The Man Who Walks

Cannot Afford To Rest Vigilance For A Moment

It must be admitted that the pedestrian today has a grievance. He must go about his lawful occupations, if society is to exist, and to do that he must frequent the streets and roads. Yet he is nowadays condemned to do so at the peril of being killed or maimed if he should be guilty of either of error or one lapse of vigilance. He must live in a jeopardy comparable to that of the troops in the front-line trenches during the War—Morning Post, London, Eng., England.

Miracle Recorded In Church

Mosaic Panel Depicts Basket of Bread and Two Fishes

A fourth-century church, built during the reign of the Emperor Constantine the Great, has been uncovered near Tiburius, on the way to Capernaum. This church commemorates the miracle of the loaves and fishes performed by Jesus on the shores of the Sea of Galilee and the actual stone said to have figured in the Gospel narrative as the boulder on which He stood has also been found in the centre of the church, where it presumably lay beneath an altar.

Behind the stone a wonderfully designed mosaic panel was found depicting in vivid black, red and yellow a basket, several loaves of bread, and two fishes. Although buried beneath dust and rubble for about 1,600 years, and only a stone's-throw from the sea, the mosaic shows no signs of erosion, and the colors are well preserved.

Good Service For Citizens

Toronto Health Department Furnishes Tablets To Purify Water

A notice published in Toronto papers says that free tablets for the purification of water can be obtained from the city health department by any citizen. These tablets are recommended for those going on picnics or camping trips where there are chances of having to use water of questionable purity. The tablets will purify water and make it fit for drinking in a few minutes.

That is a useful service for any city to give its people. People who go away and use water of which they know nothing at all are running risks, and a tablet which will eliminate this risk is a friendly thing and a good travelling companion.

Irish Free State Governor Demands An Apology From Minister

Dublin, Ireland.—His Excellency, James McNeill, Governor-General of the Irish Free State, Sunday night demanded an apology from ministers of President Eamon de Valera's government or else his own removal from office, as a consequence of what he regarded as a series of insults by the Republican cabinet ministers.

Mr. McNeill, who has been governor-general of the Free State since 1927, furthermore made public some of the letters between himself and President de Valera on this subject, one of which was an instruction from the executive council not to publish the correspondence.

"It must surely be evident," said a letter from the governor-general to Mr. de Valera, "that you and your executive council are the only people in Ireland who think the course you suggest is an honorable one." This was in reply to the formal advice not to make the correspondence.

The incidents to which Mr. McNeill so deeply protests began last May when two members of the Free State cabinet ostensibly left a party at the French legation on the arrival of Mr. McNeill, and continued through to the functions in connection with the Eucharistic Congress last month.

The first of the letters exchanged in regard to the alleged affronts was from President de Valera on May 7. Commenting on the affairs at the French legation Mr. de Valera said it was "unfortunate and regrettable and should not have been permitted to occur," but added that "further than this I am unable to go."

Governor-General McNeill wrote on July 7 complaining of the "discourtesies with which your ministers have treated me."

"You have made it necessary," the Governor-General wrote on this occasion, "for me to explain to my countrymen that without any change of principle I have not suddenly become a coward on account of the attractions of an honorable office."

This letter warned that "if an apology was not forthcoming within three days from Mr. de Valera and the ministers who behaved with the 'greatest discourtesy,' then he would publish the correspondence."

President de Valera replied to this with the statement, "I hereby convey to your excellency the formal advice and direction of the executive council not to publish the letters in question."

Mr. McNeill answered: "It must surely be evident that you and your executive council are the only people in Ireland who think the course you suggest is an honorable one. I think that only you and your council will be surprised by my decision to have an apology made to me as an alternative to my removal from office."

French Submarine Plunges Under Waves With Heavy Loss Of Life

Cherbourg, France.—The French submarine "Promethee" plunged without warning under the waves off Cherbourg harbor while on a trial manoeuvre, taking down at least 60 men in 150 feet of water seven miles north of Cape Levé.

Seven members of the crew, including Lieutenant Du Mesnil, the ship's commander, were saved when they were hurled from the deck into the sea by the lurch of the vessel in its unexpected dive. They swam until they were picked up by a fishing boat.

Efforts to locate and salvage the submarine with its imprisoned occupants, begun immediately, were impeded by strong currents prevailing at that spot. Search for the sunken craft by naval planes was handi-

Cocos Island Treasure Not Yet Uncovered

Head Of Expedition Says Report Of Success Unfounded

Panama City—Col. J. E. Leckie, head of the Vancouver, B.C., expedition which is searching for buried treasure on Cocos Isle, off the coast of Costa Rica, wirelessed the United States naval station at Balboa that reports the treasure had been uncovered were unfounded.

In a wireless conversation with the naval station operator the operator of the expedition added: "How did anybody ever get the notion we would ever find anything on this God-forsaken island?"

The Balboa radio station is the expedition's means of contact with the rest of the world and officials there said no message indicating the treasure had been found were transmitted lately.

J. Walter Young, engineer of the reserve station at Balboa, said Leckie declared before he left Panama for Cocos Island: "If we find gold you'll never know it until it arrives aboard the Canadian destroyers which are standing by the area to take the treasure to Canada."

Ottawa, Ont.—"We hope the destroyers are there, for the money," was the comment of defence department officials. "However," added the officials, "we are rather afraid the destroyers are still to be found in the neighborhood of Esquimalt, their home station."

Trans-Continental Flight

Vancouver Sun 'Plane Lands Safely At Coast Airport'

Vancouver, B.C.—Landing their plane, "The Vancouver Sun," at the Seaside airport here, pilots R. H. Storer and B. R. Ronald completed their trans-Canada flight which started from Montreal.

Originally planned as a trans-Canada nonstop refueling flight, the flyers were forced to break up their flight when a broken oil line forced their ship down near Sudbury and delayed them three hours shortly after their takeoff from St. Hubert aeroport, Montreal.

Practically the entire flight was made bucking strong head winds and rains which lashed the ship.

Foot and Mouth Disease

Victoria, B.C.—Foot and mouth disease in cattle, prevalent in certain areas in the British Isles, has been definitely traced to the importation of foreign brocolli through scientific investigations conducted by Scottish agricultural organizations, says T. G. Coventry, British Columbia's representative in England, in a letter to J. B. Mayo, deputy minister of agriculture here.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.—Wolves of Algoma will strut before visitors during Wolf Week, July 25 to 30, without fail. The wild life show will include moose, bear, deer, beaver, mink, and other animals seen in this territory.

World Flight Interrupted

Plane Of Mattern And Grifflin Is Damaged In Forced Landing—Moscow, Russia.—The globe-circling adventure of James Mattern and Bennett Grifflin, which started in New York with a blaze of speed, has come to an abrupt end in western Russia with only one-third of the flight behind them.

The world learned today the pair had cracked up their racy monoplane just over the Polish-Russian border, 500 miles east of Berlin.

Neither of the men was seriously injured in a forced landing near Borisov, Russia, 50 miles from Minsk, yesterday morning. Word of the mishap came out today.

Their "Century of Progress" was believed to have developed control trouble. The pilots probably mistook the lights of Borisov for Moscow, and circled for an emergency landing.

The end came in a peat bog, the most likely place they could find to set the ship down in, and it cracked up in the soft surface.

End Of Manhunt

Dead Body Of Bill Miller Is Found And Two Companions Under Arrest

Kelvington, Sask.—The end of the trail for the alleged murderers of Corporal L. V. Ralls, Foam Lake policeman, who was shot down easily Tuesday morning last, was reached at 3:30 p.m. Friday, when a posse of R.C.M.P. officers and 25 civilians found the dead body of Bill Miller, the leader of the gunmen, lying in the bush 17 miles northeast of Kelvington, with a bullet wound through the right temple.

Bill Kurulak, second of the trio to be captured, was arrested Friday morning while asleep in a farm home, while Mike Miller, his brother, was taken into custody Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Elvira Barney Acquitted Of Charge Of Murder

London, England.—A jury of 10 men and two women found that Mrs. Elvira Barney, 26-year-old daughter of a wealthy baron, was not guilty of the murder of Thomas William Scott Stephen, her lover, who was shot to death in her flat after a party May 31.

The verdict was reached after one hour and 53 minutes of deliberation.

Mrs. Barney collapsed when she left the court. A short time later, wholly freed, she left the Old Bailey and went to the home of her father and mother, Sir John and Lady Mullen.

The jury also acquitted Mrs. Barney on two other charges—one of manslaughter and another of intent to do Stephen, the son of a banker, grievous bodily harm by trying to shoot him during a quarrel a few weeks before his death.

Great Britain Defines Attitude Toward Further Cut In Armaments

Cut In Armaments

London, England.—Great Britain officially defined her attitude towards the United States proposal for a one-third cut in world armaments, generally welcoming the American plan, but producing concrete naval armament limitation proposals in lieu of the American naval plans which Great Britain does not think go far enough.

In a white paper read before the House of Commons by Stanley Baldwin, acting prime minister, the government pointed out Great Britain's world-wide interests made it impracticable to reduce the number of naval units beyond a certain point. "But, if there is a limit to numerical reduction, it is still possible, and highly desirable, to secure by other means a large diminution in naval armament," Mr. Baldwin said.

He therefore proposed important reductions in the maximum size of future capital ships, aircraft carriers, cruisers and destroyers, with corresponding reduction in the maximum gun-calibers for each class.

So far, as land armament is concerned, Great Britain has already enforced standards which more than cover the United States aims. The army has been cut from 250,000 in 1913 to 207,000 at present, Mr. Baldwin said.

And in the air, Great Britain goes step by step with the United States. Great Britain's air force, indeed, is only 20 per cent. of the immediate postwar strength. Great Britain is prepared to support the abolition of the bombing of civilians, and gas and chemical bombing, along with limitations on size and number of aircraft.

She would strictly limit the unladen weight of all military and naval aircraft, with the exception of troop carriers and flying boats.

Lausanne.—German war reparations will be ended by a treaty to be signed, bringing to a close the arduous labors of the Lausanne Conference of reparations and debts.

Agreement was finally achieved through the unwearying efforts of Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain, who through days of disappointing deadlocks never gave up hope of bringing the chief parties, France and Germany, to an accord.

The treaty, which will be signed by Great Britain, France, Germany, Italy and Belgium and Japan, will drop the reparations annuities which under the Young plan were to have run on for another 55 years, at a total figure of around 25 billion dollars.

For the reparations annuities will be submitted a German final liability of about $750,000,000. This will be a bond issue to be put out when Germany's credit position permits. It will not be capitalized for at least three years; if it is not issued within 15 years, its final liability, too, will be dropped. The price of the bond issue will be 90 so that the ultimate sum will be $2,700,000,000 gold marks, or $675,000,000.

Wiping the reparations slate clean, as it does, the treaty in itself is naturally of tremendous importance. Yet it is only a step towards what the Lausanne conference hope will be, with the cordial co-operation of the United States, a new world deal lifting the load of debt still weighing down the nations 14 years after the close of the Great War.

The treaty lays stress on the principle that a new effort for peace in relations among nations is commenced on the basis of reciprocal confidence, a declaration which as soon as it was made public brought from Washington the cheering news that the United States was ready to consider any proposals European debtors may make for reconsideration of the war debts settlements.

Wheat At Churchill

Over 1,600,000 Bushels Of Wheat In Bins At Northern Port

Churchill, Man.—More than 1,600,000 bushels of wheat of the first order of 2,000,000 bushels of wheat to be shipped through this new port this summer, are now in the bins in the harbor, and the second order is rolling in from Saskatchewan points. It is expected 11 ships will be necessary to take away the first two orders of grain. There is much speculation here as to when they will arrive, but none as to how fast they can be loaded. Two or three days will do the job, if there are enough trained cargo trimmers on hand.

Four ocean steamers will be able to line up in a row, when the extension of the grain galleries is completed. They can be loaded in a day.

The elevator was designed for a total capacity of 10,000,000 bushels. The first storage unit of 2,500,000 has been completed, and is being filled for the first time. Grain men state it will soon be necessary to increase the storage capacity since the investment in plant equipment and machinery has been made for a much larger storage plant.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

The Board of Trade must have the financial support of business men and store-keepers if it is to function. The membership fee of $2.00 does not provide sufficient cash to pay for anything beyond the annual cost of road maps. The president and secretary and one or two energetic members give their time and pay their out-of-pocket expenses in attending meetings in other places in the interests of Coleman board, in an effort to promote the interests of the business men as a whole. The annual assessment for Red Trail maps is at least $50, and up to date this year the board has collected less than 30 membership fees at $2.00. If there ever was need for optimism and effort it is right now, and officers of any organization must have moral and financial support in order to carry on the board's work.

Let's have men of action, men of vision, men who are willing to throw a dollar or two into the hat and feel that they are a part of the town and willing to take a hand in pulling on the oars. Slackers are of no use in community enterprise or any other effort which requires team work.

The most effective way to stop annoyance from clanging cow-bells is for those who suffer this annoyance to cut the bells off, if they can catch the cows. No sooner had the town constable left for his holidays, than it seemed all the cows from the suburbs wandered into town. Dogs, horses and cows are a confounded or worse nuisance if allowed to make the night hideous. It makes householders feel that instead of day police, night policing of the town is required. This would also be a safeguard against burglaries and fire outbreaks.

The town you live in is the town that should receive your support in helping to keep it "on the map." Business enterprise, provided you are given as good service as elsewhere, should receive consideration. Every additional business established here helps to more evenly distribute taxation. It also helps to provide more employment, and create more business.

Wasn't it Kipling who said something to the effect that "It's Tommy this and Tommy that when the band begins to play" but he's quickly forgotten when the war is over. This is usually the case following a crisis or a time of peril. It not only applies to war, but to pressing emergencies of daily life when a friend in need renders a service. Human minds are prone to forget. It's the way of the world.

Too many people are driven by their jobs, instead of keeping ahead. Boss the job instead of letting the job boss you is a good plan. It will make work seem easier. He who cannot boss his own job, no matter how humble it may be, can never expect to fill a larger or more important place in the industry in which he is employed. One of the most important things is to be punctual—when a promise is made to do a thing at a certain time, bend every effort to see that it is done.

There are many people who are chronic offenders in being late. Never on time, they waste precious hours of other's time in business and other affairs. Yet they breeze along with no concern whatever as to the inconvenience caused. Some will also be late on the judgment day, and will find the door locked.

Time is a precious thing to those who are trying to accomplish something worth while in a lifetime. As they become older, time becomes more precious. They realize there is not time to do all they would like. Two very prominent men made entirely different utterances on the eve of their deaths. Eastman, the Kodak king, felt he had accomplished his life work, leaving a note stating, "Why wait? My work is finished." Cecil Rhodes, noted empire builder, regretted that he had done so little towards fulfilling his ambitious dreams, yet he played a more prominent part than any other man in developing Rhodesia and furthering other projects of gi-gantic nature in South Africa. The materialization of his dream of a Cape to Cairo railway is a monument to his vision.

Small business men will always remain small if they do not value time, for time is really money. You must use it with care and forethought.

The suggestion that the Citizens' League organize a community picnic before the close of the summer is worthy of attention. More than anything else, can occasions of this nature promote goodwill among people of different lines of thought. When you get a large number of people enjoying themselves, harsh thoughts fade away, and they find the other fellow is just as good as they feel themselves to be. This would be of far more benefit than organizing expeditions against the "Reds." If the "Reds" want to orate on soap-boxes, by all means let them orate to their hearts content. They can swell in their own juice, without others being put to boiling by going and listening to their diatribes.

Organization of the moderates is the effective way to check them. Leadership is the thing. It broke the "Reds'" power in Coleman. Blairmore must develop its leaders among the moderates if they are to combat the revolutionaries. They must be given support from the business men. This sitting on the fence waiting for something to happen and fearing to declare an opinion is a spineless attitude. Murphy's gang are out to intimidate the faint-hearted. Appoint leaders from the moderates who will inspire confidence among those who are now under the red flag of revolution. Win them over by showing some "guts."

Interesting Letters on The Strike

(Reprinted from The Blairmore Enterprise)

Wm. Oakes States Views

Blairmore, Alberta,
July 8th, 1932.

Dear Sir—Regarding the strike at Blairmore, the general public and members of our organization may well wonder why Bellevue and Blairmore mine employees are idle while all the other local units affiliated with the Mine Workers' Union of Canada continue to work, especially as the terms offered by the West Canadian Collieries Ltd., are eminently as fair or more so, than those under which other locals are operating.

The terms offered to the last elected joint committee of all employees were as follows: "Two years agreement with no reduction in wages; freedom to form their own local union; appoint their own officials and committees; freedom to join or affiliate with lawful organization, (just as all local units of the Mine Workers' Union of Canada have done); twenty-five men to be laid off temporarily at each mine."

No support is forthcoming from the funds of the Mine Workers' Union of Canada to date, but Harvey Murphy's Unity League and the Workers' International Relief are splendidly supporting the real revolutionary faction; the faction which is not quite so revolutionary but is willing to join the "boozing" parades at Murphy's dictation, get some small support, while those men who emphatically disagree with Murphy's Communistic propaganda get no relief; vilification and ridicule is handed out to the latter class as an anesthetic until Murphy and his cohorts see the establishment of Communism in the Crows' Nest Pass.

Let us examine the calibre of the district officers of the Mine Workers' Union of Canada. First, take President Sloan, who defended the acceptance of Communism and Communists into the Labor Party Convention at Edmonton in 1928, in spite of the fact that the Communist Party in convention at Toronto had passed a resolution that "it was not the objective of any Communist to attend Labor Conventions with the view to try and build up by lawful means, BUT RATHER TO DESTROY." So much for our supposed leader of Labor organization. Secondly, let us consider Harvey Murphy, the second in command, this man was simply "pitch-forked" UNCONSTITUTIONALLY. He was allowed by the membership at large to ignore our Constitution, ignore the check-off and disregard the secret ballot and referendum vote. Now, lastly, let us consider the third officer, viz: Secretary Stoluk. This is the man who was expelled from the Communist Party because he was unsuccessful, (thanks to the efforts of Past-President Frank Wheatley), in bringing the men out on strike two years ago, with the same object in view as the present strike.

In my humble opinion all this corruption and strife can be blamed on the British-born members of our organization; these men are able to read and understand our Constitution which is printed in the English language only, and I for one, deeply regret that we have not taken action heretofore to have the Constitution of the Mine Workers' Union of Canada printed in all languages and thereby enable our foreign-born members to read and understand for themselves.

I have every sympathy for our foreign-born brothers and co-workers. They are only too eager and willing to be guided by the English-speaking members who, as I have already stated, made no serious attempt to prevent the wrecking of our Constitution by the Communist Party and the Unity League.

(Signed) WILLIAM OAKES.

A Lady Answers Mr. Wootton

Dear Sir—I have read two letters in the Blairmore Enterprise sent in by a Mr. Wootton. I would like to express my opinion, if you will be kind enough to give me space in your valuable paper.

To Mr. Wootton:

Dear Sir—I am taking the liberty of answering your letter published on the 19th July. In the first place, when you mention the carrying on of a campaign, skilfully camouflaged by pro-British and anti-Communist propaganda. Now I would like you, Mr. Wootton, to consider a thing that exists. There is however a body of men, all British, not all of them of British birth, but of all-British principle, who realize there are certain things they must do to help Canada when they willfully stay out of work, swelling the ranks of the unemployed unnecessarily, refusing to support their wives and children. These men who to work are trying to organize themselves. There is no flag about it, because when there is nothing to be ashamed of, there is nothing to hide.

Speaking of "degradation" in the same paragraph, you say, "What lower depths can anyone sink when these innocent little children to be insulted, rude and ignorant to their elders; teaching them disrespect for the Union Jack, the flag of England?" What higher insult could you offer the Mother Land than to carry and march with a foreign flag in Her Dominion? You are not being held here. The Union Jack is your home, you do not go to the country. If you want the red flag, why not go where it is waving, where it is accepted as the country's flag, where you could offer the Union Jack and serve your country well. Don't waste your time trying to force a foreign flag over us. We are Canadians and British. Our forefathers fought for this land, and we will not give in too easily.

Mr. Wootton, in the seventh paragraph of your letter, you state: "The superintendent affirmed his intentions of making Blairmore a "White Man's Camp." Well, who is a white man? He is a white man who lives up to the standard of the country in which he lives; he respects that country's flag; who lives at peace with his neighbors; taking the ups and downs in life cheerfully, living as well as he can, and not all the time not always be a bed of roses in any country. Nationality is no count—he is white who acts white.

Didn't you, Mr. Wootton, when you saw our flag, the Union Jack, and some members of them, parading on the 24th of May, our dear old Queen Victoria's birthday; and the boys sang: "We'll never let the Old Flag fall, I'm sure Old England and I am sure many more than I. Men like them are the men who fought for the "Glory of the Old Flag." Maybe some of them were disappointed, too, when they came back, but what mattered to them? They fought for freedom of England and her dominions, that Her Flag shall continue to wave. They won, and we are proud of them.

Paragraph 12, Mr. Wootton deals with the "old flag" and refers to your own words: "They are mostly Britons." What a disgrace! What a pile of weight four words carry. Men who should have shown these different speaking nationalities the ways of the British, who should have upheld their people and taught these people of many tongues to do the same—you have taught them and upheld them, and I am sure you are right to. She has opened her doors wide. Every man has an equal, no restrictions, no distinctions, and you with others, have taken this time of depression to help lead these people against Her laws. Most of these people are law-abiding, and by now they have better opportunities in Canada than they had in their home land. What a noble trust you have betrayed.

Yours truly,

LILLY ROWE.

Mace Is Old War Club

Gift To Queen Victoria Going Back To Fiji King

Among the thousands of treasures in Windsor Castle is the war club of the former King of Fiji, which was presented to Queen Victoria 58 years ago when King Thakombau acknowledged to Sir Hercules Robinson the sovereignty of Great Britain.

This war club, by command of King George, is now to be returned for ceremonial use as a mace in the Fiji legislative council. When the Fijian king handed over the war club to Sir Hercules Robinson he "sent his love to Her Majesty," assuring the Queen of his devotion and the devotion of his people to her descendants. The King desisted to give Her Majesty the only thing he possessed that would be of interest to her and as a further token of his submission he had devices of dogs carved on the sinister knobs of the club.

Waiting Time Is Over

Prosperity Must Be Met Half Way
Opinion Of Barnum

Frank J. D. Barnum, that Canadian optimist who confesses to having weathered three or four panics in his time, has no hesitation in saying that prosperity is now simply waiting for people to go out and meet it half way. "Don't keep on waiting; if both wait, we shall never meet," is the word he broadcasts in a communication to the press. "All those who have money, and there are a sufficient number who have, would go out and buy freely as they did in 1929, the depression would soon be a thing of the past. Buy, build, repair and stock up now, and by so doing save thirty to fifty per cent, is the word from the man who has been recently buying forest tracts in this country in order to save them for posterity. "And then advertise," he adds.

"Hero in Hollywood," Ralph Graves, scenario writer, says: "women don't use birthdays as an excuse for growing old. They seem to know the secret of becoming more and more alluring year after year."

"The screen and stage stars usually keep that lovely irresistible glow that youngsters have. And lots of other women, these days, seem to have learned their complexion secret!"

"Above all, guard complexion beauty," the stars will advise. "Use a little Soothing Lux Toilet Soap regular, as though we do!"

CHAPTER XXXV.

Arranged By Telephones

The visit to London, if it had not been profitless in the results which Lady Anne had hoped for, had at least accomplished certain things.

It had acted as a brake upon the swiftly turning wheels of two lives precariously poised at the top of that steep hill of which no traveller can see the end, but which very surely leads to heartbreak and disaster, and had sufficed, as Jean had suggested that it might, to restore Nick to a more normal and temperate state of mind.

He and Claire had passed a long hour alone together the day after his return to Staple, and now that the first violent reaction, the first instinctive impulse of unutterable despair from Nick's mind and heart, had spent itself, they had agreed to shoulder once more the burden Fate had laid upon them, to fight on again, just holding fast to the simple knowledge of their love for one another and leaving the ultimate issue to that great, unfathomable Player who "hither and thither moves, and, mates, and slays," not with the shadowed vision of our finite eyes but with the insight of eternity.

Jean had seen them coming hand in hand through the cool green glades of the wood where the great decision had been taken, and something in the two young, stern-set faces brought a sudden lump into her throat. She turned swiftly aside, avoiding a meeting, feeling as though here was holy ground upon which not even so close a friend as she could tread without violation.

To Jean herself the week in London had brought a certain new tranquillity of spirit. Quite naturally and without effort—thanks to Lady Anne's skillful stage-management—and to Blaise had been constantly in each other's company, and, with the word "Beloved" murmuring in her heart like some tender undertone of melody, the hours they had shared together were no longer a mingled ecstasy and pain, marred by torturing doubts and fears, but held once more the old magic of that wondrous day at Montana.

Something in the dividing line did not seem to matter very much, now that she was sure that Blaise, on his side of it, was loving her just as she, on hers, loved him. Indeed, at this stage Jean made no very great demands on life. After the agony of uncertainty of the last few months, the calm surety that Blaise loved her seemed happiness enough.

Other sharp edges of existence, too, had smoothed themselves down—as sharp edges have a knack of doing if you wait long enough. Burke seemed to have accepted her last answer as final, and now spared her the effort of contending further with his tempestuous love-making, so that she felt able to continue their friendship with Judith, and her consequent visits to Willow Ferry, with as little "gene" as though the episode at the "Honeymooners Inn" had never taken place. She even began to believe that Burke was genuinely slightly remorseful for his behaviour on that particular occasion.

Apparently he had not made a confidant of his sister over the matter, for it was without the least indication of a back thought of any kind that she approached Jean on the subject of spending a few days with herself and Geoffrey at their bungalow on the Moor.

"Geoff and I are going for a week's blow on Dartmoor, just by way of a 'pick-me-up.' Come with us, Jean; it will do you good after stuffy old London—blow the cobwebs away!"

But here, at least, Jean felt that discretion was the better part of valour. It was true that Burke was fairly amenable to reason just at present, but in the informal companionship of daily life in a moorland bungalow was more than probable that he would become less manageable. And she had no desire for a repetition of that scene in the inn parlour.

Therefore, although the Moor, with its great stretches of gold and purple, its fragrant, healthy breath and its enfolding silences, appealed to her in a way in which nothing else on earth seemed quite to appeal, pulling at her heartstrings and stirring up nostalgia for home and country put her in a befitting sternness into her tones.

"Do I need to take fresh vows?" came back Burke's answer, spoken rather gravely. "I made you a promise that day—when we drove back from Dartmoor. I'll keep that."

"I'll never kiss you again till you give me your lips yourself."

The words of the promise rushed vividly into Jean's mind, and now that steady voice through the phone uttering its quiet endorsement of the assurance given, made her feel suddenly ashamed of her suspicions.

"Very well, I'll come then," she said hastily. "How shall I get to you?"

"It's all planned, because we thought—at least we hoped—yes, come. If you'll come down to Okehampton by the three o'clock train from Coombe Eavie, I'll meet you there with the car and drive you up to the bungalow. Judy is going to drive into Newton Abbot early, to do some marketing, and, afterwards she'll lunch with her London people—the Holfords. Then they'll all come up together in the afternoon."

Province Of A Newspaper

Is To Report Actual Happenings
Without Any Prejudice

It would be comical were it not somewhat pathetic, the way newspaper offices are besieged by their friends, urging them to "roast" this and that; to "set it to it" that this and that is corrected; to have this or that done in the city or county. These friends actually appear to believe that it is the newspaper's business to handle all these affairs.

But a self-respecting newspaper, though ready and willing to carry all reasonable responsibility, must remind its readers that they too have a responsibility.

A self-respecting newspaper tries to report the news of what actually happens, not what it might have happened. The relation of a self-respecting newspaper to the general public is not always understood. It is the duty of the newspaper to be in a position to support any good act and criticize any bad act of public policy.

This relationship cannot exist where favors are asked and granted. Honesty is the only policy for a newspaper.

If objectors don't like the way things are going, they should qualify as voters, and then raise Cain about it—Kitchens Record.

Demand For Binder Twine

Eastern Factory To Increase Plant Capacity By 20 Per Cent.

Anticipating increased demand for binder twine due to a predicted heavy wheat crop this year in Canada, the Plymouth Cordage Company of Welland, has installed new machinery to increase plant capacity by 20 per cent, and started a night shift. Employment for 200 additional men will be given.

New Construction Brick

A new construction brick, having a high fusion point and almost no shrinkage, has been perfected. Material used for the brick was Georgia kaolin, a pure form of white clay.

Overcoming Danger Of Lightning To Airplanes

Process Known As "Bonding" Has Been Proved Effective

British aeronautical engineers have succeeded in overcoming danger to aircraft and passengers from lightning to such an extent that a plane may be struck while in flight and remain sufficiently undamaged to continue its journey.

A process known as "bonding" in which all metal parts of the machine are connected into a continuous conductor prevent heavy charges of static electricity, such as are picked up in storm clouds, from blowing the plane apart.

"Horatius," an Imperial Airways air liner, was recently struck by lightning while flying over Kent on her way to Paris. Although some of the windows were blown out, no occupant was hurt and the pilot was able to turn back to London and transfer his passengers to another plane which took them at once to their destination.

Devon side—going to drive up and stay the night, and the idea is to do a moonlight scramble up to the top of one of the tors after supper. Are you game?"

"Oh! How heavenly!" This, ecstatically, from Jean.

"How what?"

"Heavenly. Heavenly" — with increasing emphasis. "Can't you hear, it would be just a little less sed if cockies would make some effort to stand their 'pinch,'" said Max Werder, assistant vice-chancellor superintendent of the Canadian National Steamship, in a recent issue of hints to housewives. Mr. Werder advises all cockies to measure their fingers and weigh their "pinch" capacity so that a "pinch of salt" or a "small splash of cayenne pepper" will become terms with some real meaning. He says the former amount should be a quarter of an ounce and the latter a sixteenth of an ounce.

Great shoals of a delicious little fish, rare yearly off the coasts of Samoa, on the same day in the same month with such regularity that, from time to time out of mind, the day has been set apart by the natives as a holiday and a feast day. The shoals take twenty-four hours in passing. They are not seen again until the same day the following year. There is no explanation of the amazing punctuality of their yearly visit.

Silk Hat Trade Declining

Demand Falling Off And No Apprentices Being Trained

Denton, the little Lancashire town, famed for manufacture of silk hats, fears that the trade is doomed.

No apprentices are being encouraged to enter this particular branch of the hat manufacturing business, and all workmen at present employed are skilled craftsmen, who are getting on in years.

The world demand for silk hats is said to have fallen to about six dozen a week, most of which are manufactured in Denton.

The Line Is Busy

But Chinese Have Most Polite Way Of Saying So

In China, when a subscriber rings up the telephone exchange the operator asks: "What number does the honorable son of the moon and stars desire?" After a short silence the exchange resumes, "Will the honorable person graciously forgive the inadequacy of the insignificant service and permit this humble slave of the wind to inform him that the never-to-be-sufficiently censured line is engaged."

Stonewalling Of Its Charm And Fragrance Stay.

As ever wider open falls the rose, Still heavier, more potent grows its scent.

And rare new loveliness the hours disclose,

Surpassing speech, yet strangely eloquent.

A flower is life; yet, as youth's petals fall,

And flying years reach out with eager clutch.

Time is debrated; it cannot take all.

But only graces valued overmuch:

For not until the leaves unfold

Does it seem its matchless need of gold.

Terribly Inconducive

According to an official, says London Punch, the offices of income-tax collectors are so scantly furnished that it is not possible to ask taxpayers to take a seat. Nor is there any accommodation for those who faint.

HEART OF GOLD

Life is a flower with a golden heart;

Though petal after petal drops away

As one by one the swift-winged years depart,

Still clinging, though it charms and fragrance stay.

As ever wider open falls the rose,

Still heavier, more potent grows its scent.

And rare new loveliness the hours disclose,

Surpassing speech, yet strangely eloquent.

A flower is life; yet, as youth's petals fall,

And flying years reach out with eager clutch.

Time is debrated; it cannot take all.

But only graces valued overmuch:

For not until the leaves unfold

Does it seem its matchless need of gold.

New Motor Law

Financial Responsibility Insurance

Legislation Soon Effective In B.C.

British Columbia's new automobile insurance legislation, passed at the last session of the legislature, will come into effect September 1. It was announced following a session of the cabinet when an order-in-council was passed fixing the date in conformity with Ontario and other provinces in the Dominion having similar legislation. The new legislation is known as financial responsibility insurance, and the object is to eliminate from the streets and highways irresponsible drivers of motor vehicles.

A Real Sport

It happened in front of the Palace.

Two lay-offs were chewing the rag.

"What're you doing tonight?" asked the one.

"How about takin' in a movie?"

"I'll take our minds off the depression."

"Sorry, old man," was the answer.

"But I can't make it. I've got a bridge date."

"That's okay, too," was the amazing retort. "I'll jump off with you."

Double Wedding

On July 9, Miss Mary Krywolt, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Krywolt, of Coleman, was married to Mr. Adam Morris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Morris, and Violet, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Krywolt, was married to Mr. Dante Filafilo, only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Filafilo, of Coleman.

The ceremony took place at Holy Ghost church, Rev. Fr. Lehman officiating. The brides were given away by their father, and the parents of the contracting parties and friends were present. The brides' maid-of-honor cousins of the brides, were the Misses Mary and Martha Krywolt, of Frank, and Edna, sister of Adam Morris.

The brides were prettily dressed in white silk with hats to match, and carried bouquets of carnations. Miss Morris was dressed in pink silk, Miss Mary Krywolt in yellow silk and Miss Martha Krywolt in green silk, all having hats to match their costumes. The best men were Wadec Kubica, Frank Raymond and Joe Wavrean.

Following the service a reception was held at the home of the brides' parents, where many friends called during the day to congratulate the happy couples. The families of the newly wedded couples have lived for many years in Coleman, and the wedding created keen interest among their friends.
